WEDDING AFTER CAMP ROMANCE

Squire Appler Performs Marriage Ceremony at his Office. His First Experience.

WILL MAKE HOME HERE

Bridegroom Born in Minnesota. Bride Resident of York. Two Witnesses for the Wedding.

Another romance of the Gettysburg camp came to a happy culmination Thursday afternoon in the office of Justice of the Peace Jacob A. Appler when Private Alfred F. Beauchamp and Miss Beulah Belle Collins were married.

In all the sixteen years of Squire Appler's experience as a justice of the peace this was his first wedding. He was accordingly somewhat taken aback Thursday afternoon when he walked into his office to find an attractive young woman who greeted him with the remark "I'd like to be married". Mr. Appler showed his surprise but this was dispelled when she continued with the statement that the prospective bridegroom was in the immediate vicinity and would soon present himself.

Mr. Appler quickly got out the usual marriage form and when Private Beauchamp appeared was ready for the service except to have the necessary witnesses. The bridegroom was told that there would have to be two and he said that he preferred one soldier and one civilian. The soldier was soon secured, and Eddis Gilbert, who happened to be passing at the time, accepted the invitation to be the civilian witness.

The ceremony was performed with all due solemnity, congratulations were extended, and the happy couple started forth on their life's journey. They will have a residence in Gettysburg.

Private Beauchamp is assigned to the Medical Corps of the Army and is with the local hospital outfit. He gave his age as 26 and his birthplace Cloquet, Minnesota. Both his parents are dead. He named Gettysburg as his residence.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Davis Collins, of York. She was born in Jersey Shore, Pennsylvania. Her father was a telegraph operator, but has been dead for some time. In the application for the marriage license she gave her age as twenty-one years.

Private Beauchamp and his bride had known each other before the opening of the Gettysburg camp, though their living in this neighborhood for the past six weeks has helped to ripen their friendship into love and the marriage followed.

NEED VAST SUPPLY

Demand for Aluminum Increases with the War.

(By United Press)
Chicago, July 13.—The United States will require 50,000 tons of aluminum a year for aeroplane and motor vehicle construction to carry on the war against Germany, according to Dr. F. C. Weber, of Chicago, a chemist and experimental inventor.

This amount of aluminum, Weber says, cannot be obtained from bauxite, its present source. We must use kaolin, or fireclay, which the Germans have been using since their source of French bauxite has been cut off. Weber says this country's supply of kaolin is practically inexhaustible. The largest deposits are in Illinois.

Weber has submitted his theory to the Society of Industrial Engineers, which in turn will take it up with the Council of National Defense.

BIG INCREASE

More Than 3,500,000 Motor Cars in United States.

(By United Press)
Washington, D. C., July 13.—In 1916 there were 1,067,332 more motor cars registered in the United States than in 1915, an increase of 43 per cent. The gross total of registered cars, including commercial cars, was 3,512,996; the number of motor cycles registered was 250,820.

States collected in registration and license fees $25,865,369.75.

FINALLY DISCHARGED

Dr. Kharas is Freed Through Habeas Corpus.

Because the Maryland authorities neglected to requisition Dr. Theodore Kharas to Maryland to answer to criminal charge, alleged to be on file there against him, and because Kharas was held at Harrisburg ninety days, part of the time in jail, Judge McCarrall made an order Thursday evening finally discharging Kharas.

When arrested in one state for a crime committed in another the prisoner cannot be held in the State in which he is arrested for a longer time than ninety days. Kharas had been out on bail much of the time since his arrest at Harrisburg on April 12, last. He obtained his freedom through habeas corpus proceedings.

SHOULD GET TOGETHER

Court House Officials Mourn Loss of New Padlock.

Some time Thursday night a brand new padlock was removed from the door at the Court House. The lock had not been snapped and its appropriation was easy. The commissioners' office has the keys and it is suggested that either the possessor of the lock return it, or send in his address so that the keys may be forwarded to him. One without the other is useless.

ENROLLMENT FOR DRAFT IS 834,389

More than Half of State's White Citizens Make Exemption Claims.

Revised totals struck late Thursday at the draft registration office for Pennsylvania show that 834,389 men between the ages of 21 and 31 years were enrolled on June 5. This is with in 5 per cent of the number which the federal government estimated should be registered in Pennsylvania.

Citizens, of course, formed the biggest item of the registration, there being 612,196 of these. Next came aliens, numbering 180,754; colored citizens, 22,240 and alien enemies, or German subjects, 5455.

A heavy percentage of exemption claims for one reason and another (principally dependent relatives) is indicated by the cards. Far more than 50 per cent of the white citizens noted exemption claims. Exemptions indicated among colored citizens run heavier than among the whites.

In making up totals for the state, Col. Frank C. Sweeney, the chief registration officer, used one of the summarization blanks on which local registration boards filed their reports. These blanks carry seventeen columns of figures.

Colonel Sweeney is now bending efforts toward getting in cards from all exemption districts, with serial numbers.

ENORMOUS YIELD

Record Raspberry Crop is Keeping Railroaders Busy.

The raspberry crop in Washington county, Md., this season is estimated at $60,000 or more, according to the heavy shipments being made. Of this amount the Baltimore and Ohio will handle $50,000 worth of berries from the lower part of the county, where the bulk of the crop is grown. Shipments have been unusually heavy from that section, including Boonsboro, Keedysville, Rohrsersville and other places.

Carloads have been going over the Baltimore and Ohio daily for several weeks. On Monday seven carloads were shipped, the biggest day so far this season. The largest individual shipment to date amounted to $5,000. Growers have been getting good prices for their berries in the cities. The bulk of the crop from that county has been going to the Pittsburgh market.

MANY OFFICERS TO LEAVE CAMP

Will be Stationed Elsewhere. Others Get their Commissions as Lieutenants.

MANY RUMORS STARTED

Hurried Preparations for Withdrawals. Soldiers Enjoy Pay Day and Spend their Money.

Assignment of about forty officers of the Gettysburg Camp to other points caused quite a stir this morning and hurried arrangements were made for their departure. Many of them have their families here, some in private residences and others at the Academy, with the result that more or less extensive preparations had to be made to get all their belongings together and pack up for a hurried leaving.

Transfers in the Army are very general these days and many new officers have come here during the past week or ten days. Many of the non-commissioned men have received their commissions and a general shake-up has resulted. The assignment to new commands and new duties causes the men to be constantly on the lookout for some new move so that the one this morning was not altogether a surprise.

The activity in connection with the moving, however, caused rumors to start in town and news of a general exodus of troops was at once afloat. It might be said in passing that general movements of troops are not likely to be published in the papers, and when any regiments leave Gettysburg people will have to find it out in ways other than through the public press.

It is believed by many that this is only a temporary transfer and that they will later be returned here for, it is understood, that their duties at their new stations will have to do principally with taking the militia into the Federal Service.

The soldiers were paid Thursday, and money flowed freely. The local supply of automobiles was not sufficient to take out of town all who wished to go, and cars were brought in to aid in the transportation. Restaurants got a big share of the profits, while not less than $3000 was sent away in money orders.

York Daily: "Yesterday was pay day at the U. S. soldiers cantonment, Gettysburg, and it is estimated that more than 1000 visited this city last night. The restaurants did a big business until the early hours of the morning. The soldiers enjoyed themselves by strolling about the streets and visiting the parks and the movies. A number became intoxicated but they were taken care of by their companions and were not allowed to annoy pedestrians. The soldiers came to York in auto trucks, taxi cabs and other conveyances."

TO APPEAL CASE

Claims Condition of Streets Responsible for Dirty Tags.

Another charge of carrying dirty license tags was brought at the instance of the State police Thursday afternoon, Dr. H. L. Diehl being the defendant. Squire Hill gave his decision for the Commonwealth and Dr. Diehl's attorney, William Hersh, stated that an appeal would be taken. It was brought out at the hearing that the condition of the streets was responsible for the tags being dirty, that the owner of the car has it and the tags washed every morning, and that the dirt accumulated while he was making professional calls.

CLEAR WEATHER SAVES THE GRAIN

Farmers Worried over Long Continued Rain Glad for Needed Relief.

SOME DAMAGE IS DONE

Fields and Roads Washed in Cloudburst of Thursday Afternoon. Reservoir Gives Way.

Adams County farmers had their fears greatly relieved this morning when they awoke to find the clouds of the last four days gone, the sun shining brightly, and every indication that for a day or so, at least, they would not be hindered in completing their harvesting.

Over the county, and in others nearby, farmers feared a loss running into thousands of dollars from the continued rains and there was general apprehension lest the downpour would continue and make the grain practically worthless. Several counties predicted almost a total loss if some relief did not come while others told that harvesting would be retarded to a point where it would be rather serious.

The rain of Thursday afternoon approached the cloudburst stage in Gettysburg and, in the eastern section of the county, was a veritable deluge. At some places a foot of water covered the roads, fields were badly washed and some minor damage was done to crops and properties. The East Berlin and Abbottstown section was the scene of the heaviest rain of the day and it endured the same experience which prevailed over some sections of York County.

The Stewartstown reservoir burst Thursday and let loose 45,000 gallons of water which did considerable damage to gardens, lawns and foundations of houses. The water spread over an area of half a mile square. Many cellars were flooded.

Rev. William Leishman was caught in the flood which poured from the reservoir and nearly drowned. The residents of the town are now resorting to the use of pumps for their water supply.

SPRING GROVE WATER

Further Action Necessary to Safeguard the Community.

Not being satisfied with Spring Grove's water supply, even though improved somewhat during the last several months, the borough health board will hold a special meeting next Monday night, July 16. Methods for further improving the supply will be discussed. At the instance of the health board a month ago inspectors were sent there by the state health department to investigate the water shed and the supply of Spring Grove. At this time a number of cases of pollution were found and removed.

An investigation made recently, however, revealed that one of the worst cases along the creek continues to exist at the source of the stream. Cases of typhoid fever continue to break out in the borough at intervals, and until all the pollutions are removed the borough health board feels that they will be unable to stay the fever, which has been existing in the town and vicinity for at least 10 weeks. The board of health has been working arduously to remedy conditions. Two deaths, that of Mrs. Emory Kren and William Sent, already have occurred from the disease. At the water plant stronger chemicals have been used. These, also, the health board believes, have failed to entirely remedy the matter. A dangerous pollution of the stream, which was ordered stopped, is said to continue at times, and the health board, it is said, is prepared to furnish an affidavit to that effect. A meeting of the borough council will be called several days after the health board to discuss the water situation with that organization.

Before a small crowd, the four soldier boxers proved themselves no match for the civilians which Joe Barrett brought here Thursday evening and, with the exception of the second bout, the evening showed nothing that looked like a draw.

In this go, Frank Erne, of Lancaster, was matched with Muskoff, of a machine gun company. The first two rounds the soldier had the better of the argument, but in the third and fourth Erne took the aggressive. Then it was announced that Muskoff had developed a "Charley horse". In the first bout Johnny Morris, a soldier, had to take the count after a minute and a half because he threw his shoulder out of place. He was matched with Young Siler, of York. Lupa, a soldier, was no match for Tim Dronney, of Lancaster, and this go was stopped in the second, while less than a round was necessary for Johnny Gill to finish Louie Cohen, the fourth soldier to appear.

PROFITABLE HIGHWAYS

Seventy Miles of Toll Roads in York County.

There are seventy miles of toll roads in York county, one-fifth of the entire amount in Pennsylvania. The Gettysburg 'pike, one of the two to be taken over first by the state, last year proved the biggest money maker of all, its gross earnings for the year running in the neighborhood of $21,000. The following are the 'pike companies controlling the toll roads in York county, and an estimate of their gross earnings last year:

York and Liverpool, $6,000; York and Gettysburg, $21,000; Susquehanna and York Borough, $18,000; York and Chanceford, $10,000; York and Maryland Line, $6,500; Hanover and Maryland Line, $3,000; Shrewsbury and Railroad Station, $500; Wrightsville and Chanceford, $1,500; McSherrystown and Hanover, $4,000.

SOLDIER BOOZE IN FREDERICK?

Another Nearby Town Gets Busy when Signs Become Suspicious.

Charged with selling or giving liquor to soldiers of the United States army, a negro giving his name as Charles Franklin Holland was arrested by Constable Miller and Deputy Sheriff Smith in Frederick Wednesday night. He was remanded to jail by Justice Brust for a further hearing.

An agent of the Department of Justice was present and is conducting an investigation into the case. The soldiers were from the Gettysburg camp.

The officers declared they saw money handed to Holland and saw him go into a saloon and come out with the whiskey. It is said that the negro and soldiers then went down the railroad tracks, the officers following them. Holland was arrested a short time afterwards. He declared that he paid for the whiskey with his own money.

The soldiers were sent to Gettysburg and a complete investigation is being made.

DEATH TAKES AN ODD CHARACTER

Former Resident of Path Valley Dies in Idaho at Great Age.

DEATHS IN THE COUNTY

Teacher in the Catholic Schools at McSherrystown is Dead. Time of Funeral in New Oxford.

"Ned" Cowan left Path Valley, in Franklin County, where he was born many years ago, shortly after the outbreak of the Civil War. He went to Nevada at the time the state line was being established between Idaho and Utah. He spent some years there in mine prospecting and later became a stage driver between station towns in Idaho and Montana. During his long absence Cowan communicated little with the friends he left behind, two of these being sisters, at that time residing near Chambersburg.

"Ned" died suddenly the other day, aged nearly ninety, at Idaho Falls, Idaho, where he had become widely acquainted because of his peculiar characteristics, his good nature and his extraordinary fund of reminiscence. He kept himself from being a burden on the city by his unusual eccentricities, and his happy, harmless ways of making the acquaintance of good fellows about town.

He was a cripple, having lost his leg in the famous Comstock mine in Nevada. No sooner did he give a signal of distress, which was never an annoying one, than quick response was made by one or more of his benefactors, not the least of whom was Frank Byde, a generous citizen of Idaho. Folks who never knew the value of money, and in the early days of mining always kept his pockets lined with gold.

Cowan died in a little shack that he had long lived in. When Cowan was active in Path Valley he helped to build the rock abutments of the bridge over the Conococheague Creek east of Fannettsburg. On one of these he cut a cross to signify his devotion to the Roman Catholic church. It was after the finish of this bridge work that he started for the West to catch up with the great gold strike in California.

JOHN Y. SHEAFFER

John Y. Sheaffer died at his home in Hanover Wednesday evening, aged 77 years.

He leaves one daughter and six sons, one of whom, John Sheaffer, resides near Littlestown. He also leaves two sisters and three brothers, one sister and one brother being residents of East Berlin, Mrs. Lydia Danner, and Joseph Sheaffer.

Funeral Saturday morning in Hanover.

SISTER JOSEPH THERESA

Sister Joseph Theresa Barry died at St. Joseph's Convent, McSherrystown, Tuesday evening, aged 64 years. She had been a Sister for the past 44 years.

The funeral was held this morning at 8 o'clock in the convent chapel by Rev. L. Augustus Reuter. Interment in the convent cemetery.

DRAW ALL NAMES

Will Use Entire Registry List For Army.

EXPECT 50 PER CENT. EXEMPT

Government Plans That Each Man Know Order in Which He is Liable to Be Called For Service.

Washington, July 13.—The name of every man who registered for the draft will be drawn in the great lottery to be held probably next week.

Secretary Baker made this formal announcement at the same time confirming statements that the first levy from the draft would be approximately 687,000 men. Baker said all numbers would be drawn in the lottery in order to determine the order of liability to service after the first levy had been made.

Liability will be fixed by the order in which the names come out. There are some 6000 districts with numbered registration cards, so the first number drawn will represent the first 6000 to appear before the exemption boards.

It is estimated that 50 per cent of the men examined will be exempted or fall to pass the physical examination, so that more than a million men probably will appear before the boards before the 687,000 or more wanted on the first call are obtained.

When the fortunes of thousands of American youths are cast in Washington there will be no ceremony. Instead the occasion will be a solemn one.

Secretary of War Baker may possibly draw the numbers himself. President Wilson will probably be present, as will cabinet members and members of the military affairs committee of both branches of congress.

The place has not yet been picked, but it will probably be in the house of representatives or the White House.

The time for the drawing is still a matter of conjecture. It is up to the states. Provost Marshal General Crowder can be ready for the drawing with twenty-four hours after the last state has completed its registration and eligible lists.

Present indications point to Wednesday as the most probable day, although Secretary Baker and General Crowder are hoping for an earlier date.

Provost Marshal Crowder issued a ruling which will simplify the huge process of examination after the men have actually been selected. Men drawn who are away from their home district may be examined and present their claims for exemption to the exemption board in the district where they are residing.

"Local boards may order the physical examination of any person called and the hearing of a claim for exemption or discharge transferred to another local board," according to section twenty-nine of the rules and regulations.

This means that the selected person will have to apply for a transfer of examination from his local board to the board in whose jurisdiction he wishes to be examined.

"Permanent removal" or "necessary absence" will be the only grounds upon which the transfer of examination will be allowed.

The apportionment for the call has been based upon revised estimates of the population. Each city, county or state must furnish two-thirds of one per cent of its paper population, according to the new estimates which were made for the purpose of equalizing the number of men to be selected rather than to represent actual population totals.

The total population of the country is fixed at 103,635,300.

According to the population fixed by the revised census, Pennsylvania has a population of 8,981,082, and will be required to furnish 59,873 men, while Philadelphia, with a total population of 2,660,023, will be asked for 13,733.

The census bureau has made the following estimates of the population of cities and towns, and upon these estimates the apportionment will be based.

Wilmington, Del., 136,808; Atlantic City, 55,247; Camden, N. J., 120,536; Harrisburg, Pa., 74,238; Scranton, Pa., 182,897; Allentown, Pa., 80,526; Wilkes-Barre, Pa., 70,472; Lancaster, Pa., 43,594; Williamsport, Pa., 32,029; Easton, Pa., 32,006.

Chamberlain Quits Cabinet.

London, July 13.—J. Austen Chamberlain, secretary for India, has resigned. Mr. Chamberlain's resignation is apparently due to the Kuf-el-Amara scandal. His connection with the fiasco has been regarded as technical, the plans and conduct of the expedition having been in the hands of military commanders of the India service and Lord Hardinge, the viceroy.

Daniels Asks $100,000,000.

Washington, July 13.—Secretary Daniels asked congress for a deficiency appropriation of $100,000,000, mainly for additional destroyers and submarine chasers and to speed up work on the general building program.

1000 I. W. W.'S EXILED

Men Deported From Bisbee, Ariz., to Be Corralled at Columbus, N. M.

Tucson, Ariz., July 13.—A telephone message from Douglas said a trainload of I. W. W. members deported from Bisbee passed through on the way to Columbus, N. M., where they will be placed in a camp under the supervision of federal officials.

Governor Appeals to U. S.

Phoenix, Ariz., July 13.—One thousand members of the Industrial Workers of the World were rounded up for deportation at Bisbee by armed members of the Citizens' Protective League.

Members of the organization, which citizens declared has been a disturbing element, were searched for arms and loaded in freight cars.

Attorney General Whitney stated that he had been advised that two men had been killed at Bisbee, one being McRae, a deputy sheriff, and the other a striker. Details are lacking, but it is understood they killed each other.

Governor Campbell has wired to General Parker at Fort Sam Houston requesting that General Green be notified and instructed to have troops in readiness to proceed to Bisbee.

"The situation is such," Governor Campbell said, "that it is almost impossible for the state to handle it. The state has no troops at its command, the national guard being in the service of the United States. It would be impracticable for me at this time to declare martial law, as I have no troops to enforce it. The situation is one for the federal government to handle."

According to word from Bisbee, the work of deportation was done thoroughly and systematically.

I. W. W.'s who had not left town were herded in the base ball park. There a guard was maintained. As fast as the men were brought in they were searched for arms and red cards showing their membership in the Industrial Workers' organization.

Nearby, on a siding, were cattle and box cars, where the men were taken. There other guards saw to it that they remained. This train, it was stated, will be sent out of town later. Leaders of the Citizens' Protective League refused to give its destination.

The work was begun at night, a number of citizens from Douglas and other points coming to assist.

Business men and miners who wanted to work had determined that the industry of the camp should no longer be tied up. Therefore, all business was suspended for the "clean-up."

PERSHING'S MEN NEAR FRONT

Troops Move to Training Camp Behind Battle Lines.

American Headquarters in France, July 13.—The American troops traveled through France from their temporary camp to their permanent base behind the front.

It was a triumphal procession. Crowds greeted the troop trains at every station with cheers of greeting. Flags were everywhere. The men were presented with flowers and refreshments.

School children at stations along the railway line sang the American and French national anthems as the troop trains passed. When the train stopped, girls patted the soldiers with roses much to the delight of the Americans. Boxes of sweetmeats of every variety were pressed upon the soldiers.

Each of the trains carried 1000 men.

Spy Suspect Commits Suicide.

Cedar Grove, N. J., July 13.—Charles Sholes, an Austrian, apparently of good birth, hung himself in the town hall a few hours after he was arrested by soldiers. He was caught prowling around a big reservoir.

Mrs. William Herish, Miss Henrietta Herish, and Miss Ruth Bream left this morning on a ten days' trip to Niagara Falls.

HOLLWEG RESIGNS

Crown Prince Said to Have Forced Him Out.

ENTIRE MINISTRY MAY QUIT

Imperial Manifesto on German Political Crisis Expected as Cabinet Tatters—Peace Talk in Reichstag.

Berne, July 13.—The Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, says the German imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg, has resigned.

Emperor William, the newspaper adds, has postponed his decision whether to accept the chancellor's resignation.

A telegram from Berlin says that it was the intervention of the crown prince that caused the chancellor to tender his resignation.

Entire Ministry May Resign.

Amsterdam, July 13.—A rumor has reached Holland that the entire German government will resign with Imperial Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, the main committee of the reichstag having refused to vote a war credit unless the government declare its policy regarding peace and reform which the government has declined to do. An imperial proclamation is considered imminent.

The Vossische Zeitung and Lokal Anzeiger, both of Berlin, agree that the chancellor resigned owing to a letter from the center or clerical party declaring that the conclusion of a peace would be rendered more difficult if he retained his office.

Great Debate on Peace Likely.

London, July 13.—The plenary session of the reichstag which was to have opened early in the week, will sit today. The Exchange Telegraph's Copenhagen correspondent cables. He reports that a great political debate will be begun tomorrow and that a liberal peace formula declaring Germany is fighting a defense war is expected to command a large majority. A Berlin despatch, via Amsterdam, says the Reichstag Interparty committee has concluded its deliberations in regard to the text of the joint resolution on the question of peace which is to be moved in the reichstag. The national liberal members of the committee requested that their party be given an opportunity to come to a decision regarding the resolution, but this decision has not yet been reached.

(The national liberal party is not "liberal" in the common sense of the word, and has stood for vigorous prosecution of the war, has favored the ruthless U-boat war and opposed the peace-without-annexation program of the Socialists.)

Other Berlin despatches, via Amsterdam, state that Emperor William had an interview lasting several hours with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg and received his report of the political situation.

The chancellor also received various party leaders.

A semi-official despatch from Vienna says the report in the Vossische Zeitung of an audience that Herr Mathias Erzberger, leader of the centrist party in the reichstag, had with the Austrian Emperor Charles is a pure invention.

The crown prince arrived in Berlin on a special train from the front and attended the crown council, at which the emperor presided.

ARGENTINE PLAN FAILS

Washington Glad That Proposed Conference Has Failed Through.

Buenos Aires, July 13.—The congress of neutral South American nations to formulate a common policy on problems arising from the war has been postponed indefinitely.

U. S. Disapproved Conference.

Washington, July 13.—Government officials who have throughout manifested disapproval of the proposed conference of American nations were glad to hear that it had been indefinitely postponed.

Ever since the American ambassador, F. J. Stimson, first reported its call on April 22, the state department has held that such a meeting at this time could serve no valuable purpose. Several South Americans which have severed relations with Germany, notably Brazil, have expressed a similar view.

His Skull Crushed and Money Gone.

Mahanoy City, Pa., July 13.—With his skull battered in and his watch and money gone, John Osander, a contract miner, aged thirty-two, was found on the Park Place turnpike by berry pickers. He died after being admitted to the State hospital at Fountain Springs. Osander was unable to make a statement. The police are investigating.

Need New Englanders North.

Washington, July 13.—Objection to sending New England men selected for the national army to southern training camps was lodged with the war department by Senators Lodge and Weeks, of Massachusetts, and Hale, of Maine. They say the army will meet climatical conditions in France similar to those of New England rather than of the south.

Miss Helen Menchey and Miss Ruth Pittenturf have returned to their home on Washington street after a visit with relatives in Harrisburg.

The Colonel's Oldest Son to Be Officer in the British Army.

News that young Roosevelt, who has been training at Plattsburg, had accepted a commission in the British army caused a stir. Although the exact status of the commission is not known, it is certain he will be attached to the staff of one of the British armies in the east. He is peculiarly fitted for work in Egypt, in Asia Minor or Mesopotamia. Extensive trips in the heart of Africa and South America with his father have seasoned him for active field work in such climates. Two other sons of the colonel are with General Pershing's force in France. They are Major Theodore and Lieutenant Archibald Roosevelt.

STEEL WORKERS WON

Manufacturers Agree to Place Plants at Disposal of Government.

Washington, July 13.—Representatives of the iron and steel industry of the country yielded to the demand of President Wilson that they forego "blood profits" and agreed that the entire capacity of their plants should be placed at the disposal of the government upon the following terms:

Government requirements for its shipbuilding program and for other purposes to be turned out with the greatest possible speed.

The federal trade commission to proceed at once with an investigation to determine the cost of producing steel plates and other products.

The price for steel to be fixed promptly, based upon the cost of production, plus a just profit to the manufacturer.

The government will not commandeer the steel plants.

The allies will receive the benefit of the same prices that are to be paid by the United States, and the public generally will share in these prices.

This agreement, while it still leaves in doubt the price that is to be paid for steel, paves the way for a definite agreement and removes the obstacles which have impeded the building program of the shipping board. It came, following a long session in the office of Secretary of War Baker, which was attended by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, chairman Denman, of the shipping board; Bernard Baruch, Judge E. H. Gary, chairman, and James Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation; Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel company; A. C. Dinkey, of the Midvale Steel corporation, and a large number of other steel manufacturers.

COAL OPERATORS FREED

Indictments Against West Virginia Men Are Dismissed.

New York, July 13.—The jury in the case of the semi-bituminous coal operators and companies in Virginia and West Virginia, on trial charged with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law brought in a verdict of not guilty for all the defendants.

The jury deliberated twenty-three and one half hours before reaching its verdict, which freed forty-one operators and sixty-nine corporations from the government's charges. The trial began three weeks ago last Monday, when the charges included sixty-four individuals and 168 corporations, but as the trial progressed indictments against a number of the defendants were dismissed by Judge Grubb.

Attorneys estimated that the trial cost the government and defense about $750,000.

Hanging Rock is Spared.

Norristown, Pa., July 13.—District Attorney Anderson has been advised by the state highway department that the opposition which he headed against the department's move to demolish the historic hanging rock at Gulph Mills has proved effectual. The rock will not be removed because of its historic connections.

Harrisburg's Mayor Dies.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 13.—Charles A. Miller, elected mayor less than two months ago, to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Ezra S. Meals, who died April 18, died at his home. Mayor Miller was for more than twenty-five years city clerk and had a reputation as an authority on municipal law.

IF YOU REGISTERED JUNE 5, HERE IS WHAT TO DO.

Did you register on June 5? If you did it is incumbent on you to take the following steps for yourself in connection with the selective draft:

Find out the number of the exemption district in which you live.

Find out where the headquarters of the exemption board for that district are located.

Find out whether you have been given a new number by the local board and, if so, what the number is.

Find out your number at the earliest moment.

Find out where to present yourself if your number was drawn, irrespective of whether you receive notice by mail or not.

Present yourself on the date specified to the local board, no matter whether you think you are physically fit or not.

If you are going to claim exemption make your preparations early, because your claim must be filed with the local board within seven days after you are called.

And remember, IT IS UP TO YOU!

You are not exempt, no matter who or what you are, until you have been examined.

You cannot be exempted or discharged until you have demanded exemption or discharge.

You are not exempted automatically because you are married or because of your occupation.

You may find yourself suddenly ordered to a training camp or branded as a deserter unless you see to it that you comply with all these legal requirements.

HOW TO WRITE MEN ABROAD.

Daniels Approves Form of Address For Army and Navy.

A form of address for officers and men of the United States naval forces serving overseas has been approved by the secretary of the navy.

"Unavforce, London," is the code address for all cable messages intended for members of the United States naval forces abroad. The first words of the text will be the name of the individual given name spelled out and middle initial for whom the message is intended, followed by the message.

The name of the ship or station should not be included and, except in cases of identical names, the rank or rating should not be included.

The following is a sample cable message:

Unavforce, London.

Frank B. Howard. Inform examination successfully passed.

When there is a probability that two men in the service have identical surnames and initials the name should be given in full, as "Frank Barrett Smith," or the rank or rating should be given, as "Lieutenant Frank B. Smith" or "Frank B. Smith, Ordinary Seaman."

SHOLLENBERGER'S HOME RUN WINS

Snatched Victory from Frederick Nine at Very End of the Game.

GET HOOK'S EMERY PAPER

After Umpire Took it from him, Pitcher Weakened and Gettysburg Got Back into Third Place.

After his team-mates had passed up several fine opportunities to win Thursday's game with Frederick, Shollenberger in the ninth sent in a mighty wallop almost to Lincoln avenue for a homer, scoring Bedenk and himself with the two runs necessary for a 5-4 victory.

Hook was in the box for the Hustlers and held Gettysburg hitless until the end of the fifth when Monte Cross ripped a piece of emery paper from the pitcher's belt, and after that he lost much of his goods.

Gettysburg scored in the second when Ward sent a long fly which Zinnell dropped, took third on a sacrifice, and tallied on a passed ball. Frederick got two in the third. Maurer hit safely, Barnhart was hit by a pitched ball, and Zinnell got a pass. Crooke's clean single scored two. Another was added in the fourth on a hit by Carr, a stolen base, and Maurer's hit. The visitors' last run came in the fifth on a pass to Zinnell, two sacrifices and Carr's single.

In the sixth Yim drew a pass and Jones hit to left, the runners pulling up on third and second. Dykes hit to Carr who tagged Yim off third, and Ward's hit scored Jones. Dunn and Sykes were passed scoring Dykes, and with the bases still loaded Bedenk fanned.

Dykes, first up, made a clean two bagger in the eighth but was called out for not touching first. Then in the ninth Bedenk singled, and Shollenberger sent a long fly over the canvass. A collection amounting to $7.75 was lifted in appreciation of the blow.

The second game was called at the end of the first inning on account of the rain storm. Neither side had scored.

RAIDERS DROP BACK

Howard Wins His Eleventh Game, Defeating Hanover 2-1.

Earl Howard won his eleventh straight game, coming off victorious in an eleven inning battle with the Raiders, score 2-1. The winning run was scored on hits by Meyer and Hurley, an error and Bangs' hit to Kunkle, which was too hot for the pitcher to handle, Meyer scoring. Hanover scored on Bittling's triple and Elliott's single.

CUMBERLAND IS SHY OF MONEY

Fans Failed to Come Across with Three Thousand Dollars Wanted.

When the three-day campaign was started last Saturday to raise $3,000 for the Cumberland base ball club of the Blue Ridge League by selling books of season tickets, it was expected by the workers that the fans would grab them up like hot cakes and that the money would be handed over to the Cumberland club owners by Wednesday night, but the disappointment among the campaigners is keen. The tickets have not sold well and unless there is a heavy spurt only about one-third of the amount asked for will be raised.

Many of the workers claim that the fans who generally go to the game do not like the idea of tying up their money, and are satisfied to wait until they reach the gate before purchasing their tickets. Others put up the excuse that they have no guarantee that the league will last the season out and in the event it did not they would be out on the deal. No provision was made for the redemption of tickets not used in the event before September 3, but it is believed the club owners would readily give back money on all tickets that remained unused.

The fans in general are a little doubtful that the league will finish, and they base their opinion on the fact that many of the better minor circuits have been forced out of business by poor attendance, and reports that have reached Cumberland since the Colts were admitted to the circuit that the teams in the other end of the league, with the probable exception of Hagerstown, are now operating strictly on the guarantee of $50 that is given the visiting team.

FIND BODY OF AGED MAN

Following a thorough search which began Monday evening, by relatives and friends, the body of aged Jacob Miller was found Wednesday evening a little before six o'clock by his son-in-law, J. S. Darr, of Carlisle. Since his absence from the home of his daughter, Monday afternoon the search had been outlined until Wednesday evening when his body was found Mr. Darr and Mervin Braught were members of a party which searched Wednesday. Darr and Braught chose the Long's Gap road. Near the top of the North Mountain about 200 yards east of what is known as the Upper Bend, Mr. Darr found the body.

Miller was lying on his back as in the attitude of sleep. He had discarded his shoes and had set them aside as was his custom when enjoying a rest. That he came to his death from a natural cause is not doubted by Coroner Deardorf, who was called and viewed the body. Two slight bruises, one on the leg, the other on an arm were the only marks that were indicative of any hardship that he might have passed through in ascending the mountain slopes.

It is very plain that he was much fatigued when he neared the top of the mountain and his action in lying down to rest was natural.

SADDENS COURT HOUSE

Much sorrow was felt at the Court House in Carlisle Thursday when the news of the sad death of "Samuel Bentz Stuart" was given out. He, with "Franklin Hartzell Stuart" were the latest additions to the county of the latest family and the latter is also seriously ill. "Samuel Bentz" and "Franklin Hartzell" were two turkeys, the property of Deputy Clerk of Courts Samuel Stuart and were named after the head of the office and one of the popular deputies. The original idea was to have a large banquet in the fall and the health of the remaining member of the pair is a source of much interest to the officials who have been preparing for the dinner.

TO AID FARMERS

Thomas J. Quigley, inspector of the Department of Labor and Industry, was in Carlisle Thursday. Mr. Quigley is in that section in the interest of getting help to the farmers to aid in harvesting crops. For some reason the majority of rural residents do not appear to want special transitory aid in their work, he stated, those who express their need at all saying that they want farm hands who will remain during the entire year.

PERFECT IN ATTENDANCE

Miss Esther Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor, of New Cumberland, who was graduated this year from the New Cumberland High School, has the remarkable record of never having been absent from a session of school in the twelve years in which she was acquiring her education. At one time in her school career her home was under quarantine because a member of the household was suffering from a contagious disease, but Miss Taylor devised a way to continue her unbroken record of school attendance by moving to the home of a friend while the health department ban was on her home.

ROBBERY ATTEMPTED

A bold attempt at robbery was frustrated Friday afternoon on the W. L. Miller farm, one mile east of Jacksonville, tenanted by William Kendall. Mrs. Kendall had gone for raspberries. When she returned she went to her garden in order to get some vegetables for supper. She picked up a couple of loose stones and threw them in the direction of the grape arbor, when to her amazement a man jumped up from behind the arbor. Just at that time the lady's brother, Frank Burkholder, came along and seeing the man, pulled a revolver, which he snapped six times but for some reason the cartridges did not explode. Then came a tussle in which neither of the men gained any advantage, but the would-be burglar at last managed to get away and ran towards the mountains. As far as could be learned nothing was missing from the house, and it is supposed that the man saw Mrs. Kendall coming back and hid in the arbor.

FRANKLIN COUNTY

RIDE COSTLY

Isaac C. Heckman, of Chambersburg, was arrested on the six o'clock trolley from the mountain Tuesday evening by Patrolman Overholtzer, charged with being drunk and disorderly and refusing to pay his fare from Pen Mar to Waynesboro. He was taken before Squire Culler and after pleading not guilty to all three charges, was released upon giving the squire his watch as security for his appearance Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, it being impossible to proceed with the case until the C. G. & W. Trolley Company could get its witness.

At the hearing in the morning H. E. Stephy, conductor on the car, was called as a witness. He said Heckman got on the car at Greencastle and paid five cents fare to go to Shady Grove on his way to Hagerstown. He did not get off the car at Shady Grove, however, but kept going on to Pen Mar. It was on the return trip that he refused to pay his fare and was arrested in Waynesboro. After hearing all the evidence in the case, Squire Culler fined him $6.50 and costs of the case amounting in all to $11.00 which he paid, got his watch and left.

TAKE OVER CHURCH

Carlisle Presbytery held an adjourned meeting Thursday and arranged the terms upon which it will take over and assume charge of the famous 180-years-old Rocky Spring Church, near Chambersburg, and its cemetery.

There is but one living member of the congregation, Thomas McClelland, of Shippensburg. Rev. Mr. Shaffer transferred from Clarion to Carlisle was received.

YORK COUNTY

FOR BIG TIME

Efforts are to be made to have every fire company in York County represented in the parade that is to be held in Hanover on Labor Day in connection with the firemen's convention to be conducted at that time, and a committee was appointed for the purpose of arousing interest in the event at a general meeting of the York County Firemen's Association, held Wednesday night in York.

The members composing the committee are: Charles F. Harkins, David T. Frey, Millard H. Spangler, John Judy, J. J. Strine, J. Shaberg, Anthony Mann, Harry Yerkes, Harry L. Willis, Harry L. Nickol, George S. Kroll, and Maurice Seifert. Arrangements are being made to have the next meeting held at Dallastown at which time Dr. J. H. Bennett, director of public safety, is expected to give a demonstration of the use of the lung motor and the reviving of persons overcome by smoke or gases.

UPHOLDS ERROR

In an opinion filed by Justice von Moschizker, of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, on the appeal from the decree of the York County of Common Pleas in the case of John Edward Vandensloot, who is the York referee in bankruptcy, against the Pennsylvania Water & Power Company, which maintains an immense dam and electric power plant at McCall's Ferry, the assignment of error is sustained, the order of the Court below reversed, and service of the bill set aside.

TROOPS TOBACCOLESS BUT FOR ARMY GIRL

Fund Will Supply Transports, as She Did Those in Which Pershing's Men Sailed.

The timely act of the daughter of a prominent United States army officer, which saved the troops of the Pershing expedition from making their hazardous ocean trip without cigarette "mak in's" or pipe fillings or a cigar—in short, "without a thing to smoke"—has started an organization to be known as "an army girl's transport tobacco fund." Application for articles of incorporation have been made in the supreme court of New York.

Uncle Sam doesn't supply soldiers with tobacco as a ration. One of the officers told this to the "army girl." There wasn't time to collect funds; there wasn't time to cut army red tape. She went straight to a banker she knew, who obtained for her credit with a tobacco company. In a few hours huge shipments of tobacco were being taken aboard the transports, and soldiers, marines and sailors were cheering for the army girl. Scores of officers have written her how keenly every man of the expedition appreciated what she had done.

Ashore the news started an organization which is to see that supplies of tobacco are aboard every transport. Edwin Arden is to act as general manager; Miss M. S. Carson, secretary, and Major Ernest K. Coulter, treasurer. R. L. Bigelow and Captain Edward R. Close are also members. All contributions to this fund should be sent to Major Coulter at 25 Pine street, New York city.

HARD TO ENTER AVIATION CORPS

Physical Tests Severe on Men who Want to Fly for Uncle Sam.

ONLY FEW CAN QUALIFY

Many Things to be Taken into Consideration in Selecting Recruits for Aviation Army.

(By United Press)

Washington, July 13.—The reason there are many vacancies in the Aviation Section is that only a small percentage of those who apply can pass the physical test. Here's what one must do after filling out a series of application forms.

"Have you ever been seasick?" is the first question popped. Aviators must be immune to mal de mer.

Tests for near-sightedness and far-sightedness, color perception graded to finest tones and vision follow. Vision must be normal.

Heart, lungs and blood pressure must be perfect.

Feet must be well shaped and the nervous system normal. Chest expansion must be three or more inches inflated.

Equilibrium tests are next. The applicant shuts his eyes and balances himself on his toes with heels and toes together. It sounds simple—but try it. Then with eyes still shut he balances on each foot bringing the other up until the heel touches the kneecap.

Eyes are then examined more minutely by the use of a belladonna and the iris is "x-rayed" to make doubly sure there is no infection. Large tonsils, and adenoids must be removed. Teeth must be good and sound. Nasal passages must be clear.

Hearing must be perfect. The tick of a watch must be heard at five feet. Across a 25 foot space the applicant must differentiate between "Glass" and "Grass" and "Brass" spoken in a barely audible whisper.

Equilibrium, the seventh sense, must be perfectly developed. The other senses must be perfect for one impaired sense injures the "balance sense".

The applicant is seated in a revolving chair much the same as a barber's or dentist's. He is whirled ten times in each direction as fast as the chair will revolve with eyes shut. Suddenly stopped he is to look in the opposite direction from which he has been whirled. The regular jumping of the eyeball as the brain seeks to regain its equilibrium shows how quickly the applicant is finding his balance.

Forty times more the applicant is twirled sitting straight with eyes shut and with head dropped at an angle of 45 degrees with the torso. He is told to sit straight when suddenly stopped or to raise his hands straight in front of him. If normal he will throw his weight far to the opposite side from which he has been whirled. He is then stood on his feet and with eyes closed is told to walk in a straight line to the opposite side of the room.

Many applicants are compelled to have minor operations before they are eligible. Examining officers report that if possible to pass by an operation the applicants in every instance immediately make arrangements to be operated on.

The standard for admission to the Aviation Section has been reduced from a college education or its equivalent to the equivalent of two years college training. Athletes who excelled in school are particularly desired.

Capable and Lucky

George B. Whitted, outfielder of the Philadelphia National league club, is rated a lucky man among his fellows. On two occasions he has been shifted from one club to another and both times landed with a pennant winner. In 1912 he joined the St. Louis Nationals and in 1914 was sent to the Boston

Braves and materially assisted that aggregation in winning the world's championship. The following winter he was traded by Boston with Duguey for Sherwood Magee. In the season of 1915 he helped Pat Moran win the National pennant, thus getting a slice of two world's league series. Whitted is a native of Durham, N. C., and is twenty-seven years old.

Jess Willard Sued.

Jack Curley has started injunction proceedings in the supreme court against Jess Willard, champion heavy-weight, to restrain him from giving circus performances in New York state. Curley demands $20,000 from Willard. He says he entered into a three year contract with Willard in September, 1914, to act as his manager. Since Willard purchased a circus, Curley says, he has broken the contract and terminated the relations of manager and fighter.

Joe Tinker Fined.

A fine of $50 has been imposed on Manager Joseph B. Tinker of Columbus and $35 on Fred Mollwitz of Kansas City for an altercation in a game at Kansas City recently by Thomas J. Hickey, president of the American association.

Pitcher Re-enters Game.

Roy Patterson, former Chicago American and Minneapolis American association star pitcher, who has been out of professional baseball for two years, has rejoined the Minneapolis club.

Wise Observations

It's just as bad to say things that disagree with others as it is to eat things that disagree with yourself.

Work is not an enemy, but the best of friends.

Narrow love and faith and hope make a narrow life.

The optimist is a man who can scent the coming harvest when the snow is on the ground. He can "feel the days before him."

Don't be too "nice." It is such an impediment to usefulness as stuttering is to speech.

Your enjoyment of nature this summer, the sea, the mountains, the flowers, will not depend upon the sea or the mountains or the flowers, but upon yourself.

Fireless Cookers Save Fuel.
Home consumption of fuel can be much decreased by the wider use of the fireless cooker. These cookers not only save fuel, but save the time of the housewife. It is possible with little effort and expense to make a satisfactory fireless cooker if the manufacturer's types are not available.

OUR RED CROSS TO USE DOGS.

Training School to Be Set Up Near Paris.

America's dogs will "do their bit" in the war. A number of them, specially fitted for Red Cross work, are already in France.

The American army sanitary experts have authorized the American Red Cross to establish immediately a dog training school near Paris. The dogs will be trained as French Red Cross dogs are, to find American wounded on the field, particularly over terrain that is broken or wooded. A number of expert American dog handlers are already in France and will begin the work at once with a few of the American dogs already received. More are said to be on the way, and the American training station will likewise receive a number of French dogs.

According to the plan of the Red Cross dog experts, three trained dogs will be attached to each Red Cross ambulance unit.

NEW MARCHING SONG FOR
OUR ARMY IN FRANCE"Over the Sea to Germany" Was Composed by Men on the Way Over.

The American troops in France have a new marching song—"Over the Sea to Germany."

The music was composed by Clarence Gridley, a son of the famous Captain Gridley of Manila Bay, and the words were written on the way over by John Fris, commissary clerk on one of the transports. The chorus goes: Goodby, dear old Yankee land. Hello, France!

We've sailed across the ocean to make the Germans dance. They have tried to rule the world with military stuff. But we come from a country that never takes a bluff.

The music is reminiscent of "Tipperary," "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" and the "Doxology," but it will do.

It has a great march rhythm and makes a great hit with the French as the regiments swing past.

NIAGARA FOR EAST RIVER.

Miniature Cataract to Be Feature of New Aqueduct Celebration.

Beginning on Columbus day and continuing till the evening of Oct. 14 all sorts of spectacular things are going to take place to celebrate the completion of the Catskill aqueduct, the new water system for New York city.

One of the features of the celebration is to be a sort of mimic Niagara in the East river. A high pressure pipe is to be laid across the edge of one of the bridges. Holes are to be punched at intervals in the pipe in such a way that the water can fall directly to the river below. The "cata-ract" will be illuminated in the evening. River traffic will be suspended temporarily if necessary.

The ceremony of "delivering the water to the city" will take place at the city hall on Columbus day. Mayor Mitchell will preside, and former Mayor McClellan, who broke ground for the aqueduct ten years ago, will be the guest of honor. A fountain designed by MacMonnies and Franklin Hastings, which is the gift of Mrs. Angelina Crane, will be unveiled at the city hall plaza. A cornerstone of another fountain in Central park will be laid.

On the following days there will be parades, dinners, pageants and musical festivals in churches and schools.

THE SYNC S.

CHAPTER I—Set about and alone by an accident in the desert near the Rio Grande Mrs. Alaire, mistress of Las Palmas and La Perla ranches, meets Dave Law, Texas Ranger, at a water hole and is compelled to spend the night there with him, as he is in ambush for a murderer and cannot leave his post.

CHAPTER II—Law captures the murderer but is compelled to kill his companion, Pando Sanchez, who happens to be a cousin of Mrs. Austin's horsebreaker, Jose Sanchez.

CHAPTER III—At Las Palmas Alaire tells her husband, Ed, that his carousals and inebriety must stop. Her cattle at Las Palmas, the Mexican ranch, are confiscated by Longorio, Mexican federal general, and she finds that it is because Ed has been helping the rebel Junta.

CHAPTER IV—On her way to La Perla in Mexico Alaire meets Longorio, who falls in love with her and agrees to settle the confiscated stock.

CHAPTER V—Entertained at their home by Blaise Jones and his daughter Paloma, Dave hears something about the Tad Lewis outfit, which is suspected of cattle stealing. With Ricardo Guzman and his boys Dave and Blaise go on a scout after cattle thieves.

CHAPTER VI—Law catches two of the Lewis outfit branding a stolen calf and in a fight kills one and has his horse shot under him in the trap and other thief to Las Palmas, where he is insulted by Ed Austin, whom he knows to be very friendly with the Lewis outfit.

CHAPTER VII—Law follows up the trail of Urbina, the escaped thief, to no purpose except to confirm Austin's conspiracy with the Lewis outfit.

CHAPTER VIII—On her homeward journey Alaire again meets Longorio, who openly makes love to her. She obtains the release of Juan Garcia from prison.

CHAPTER IX—Jose Sanchez swears to find out the truth about the alleged Longorio. Dave gets further information about the Lewis outfit. Ricardo Guzman goes to Mexico to sell horses to the federales.

CHAPTER X—Dave and Alaire attend the Las Palmas rodeo. She presents Dave with a horse to replace the one killed by the cattle thieves. They discuss the killing of Pando.

CHAPTER XI—Guzman does not return from Mexico and his reported killing arouses American Blaise and her range to go to Romero across the river and recover the body. Jose hears that Dave killed Pando and goes to join Longorio. Paloma and Alaire arrange to go to the river to await the return of Blaise and Dave. Longorio appears at Las Palmas with an escort and overhears Ed telephoning news of the trip after Guzman to Tad Lewis.

CHAPTER XIV.

Superstitions and Certainties.

The sensation caused by Ricardo Guzman's disappearance was as nothing to that which followed the recovery of his body. Whatever the facts of the rescue, it was generally recognized that the result had been to bring on a crisis in the affairs of the two nations. Strong influences, however, were at work to prevent that very outcome for which the people of Texas prayed. During the delay there arose a report that Ricardo Guzman had borne an evil reputation, and that he had been so actively associated with the rebel cause as to warrant punishment by the federal government. Moreover, a legal question as to his American citizenship was raised—a question which seemed to have important bearing upon the case.

Public interest is short-lived; few living men can hold it more than a day or two, and it reckons no dead man worthy of more than an obituary notice. Thus in the course of time the Guzman incident was in a fair way of being officially forgotten and forgiven.

But there were several persons who felt intense relief at the course events had taken, and among these was Alaire Austin. In the days following that midnight expedition she had had ample time in which to meditate upon her husband's actions. It seemed probable that he had fled to San Antonio, there to remain until interest in the Guzman matter had abated.

Alaire telephoned Dave Law, arguing to herself that she must learn more about her husband's connection with the Lewis gang. Dave arrived even sooner than she had expected. She made him dine with her, and they spent the evening on the dim-lit gallery.

In the course of their conversation Alaire discovered that Dave, too, had a hidden side of his nature; that he possessed an imagination, and with it a quaint, whimsical, exploratory turn of mind which enabled him to talk interestingly of many things and many places. On this particular evening he was anything but the man of iron she had known—until she ventured to speak of Ed. Then he closed up like a trap. He was almost gruff in his refusal to say a word about her husband.

Because of Ed's appropriation of the ranch cash, Alaire found it necessary a few days later to go to the bank, and, feeling the need of exercise, she rode her horse Montrose. When her errands had been attended to, she suddenly decided to call on Paloma Jones. It was years since she had voluntarily done such a thing; the very impulse surprised her.

Paloma, it happened, was undergoing that peculiar form of feminine torture known as "fitting," but insecurely basted, pinned and tucked as she was, she came flying down to the gate to meet her visitor.

Alaire was introduced to Mrs. Strange, the dressmaker, a large, acidulous brunette, with a mouthful of pins; and then, when Paloma had given herself once more into the seamstress' hands, the two friends gossiped.

"I don't know what dad will say when he sets the bill for these resses," Paloma confessed.

"Your father is a mighty queer man," Mrs. Strange observed. "I haven't so much as laid eyes on him."

Paloma nodded. "Yes, and he's getting more peculiar all the time; I can't make out what all this is."

"Where is he now?" asked Alaire.

"Heaven knows! Out in the barn or under the house." Taking advantage of the dressmaker's momentary absence from the room, Paloma continued in a whisper: "I wish you'd talk to dad and see what you make of him. He's absolutely queer. Mrs. Strange seems to have a peculiar effect on him. Why, it's almost as if—"

"What?"

"Well, I suppose I'm foolish, but—I'm beginning to believe in spells. You know, Mrs. Strange's husband is a sort of—necromancer."

"How silly!"

"There was no further opportunity for words, as the woman reappeared at that instant; but a little later Alaire went in search of Blaise, still considerably mystified. As she neared the farm buildings, she glimpsed a man's figure hastily disappearing into the barn. The figure bore a suspicious resemblance to Blaise Jones, yet when she followed, he was nowhere to be seen.

"Mr. Jones!" Alaire called. She repeated Blaise's name several times; then something stirred. The door of a harness closet opened cautiously, and out of the blackness peered Paloma's father. He looked more owl-like than ever behind his big, gold-rimmed spectacles. "What in the world are you doing in there?" she cried.

Blaise emerged, blinking. He was dusty and perspiring.

"Hello, Miz Austin!" he saluted her with a poor assumption of breeziness. "I was fixin' some harness, but I'm right glad to see you."

Alaire regarded him quizzically. "What made you hide?" she asked.

"Hide? Who, me?"

"I saw you-dodge in here like a—gopher."

Blaise confessed: "I reckon I've got the willies. Every woman I see looks like that dressmaker."

"Paloma was telling me about you. Why do you hate her so?"

"I don't know 'I hate her, but her and her husband have put a jinx on me. They're the worst people I ever see, Miz Austin."

"You don't really believe in such things?"

Blaise dusted off a seat for his visitor, saying: "I never did till lately, but now I'm worse than a plantation nigger. I tell you there's things in this world we don't sabb. I wish you'd get Paloma to fire her. I've tried and failed. I wish you'd tell her those dresses are rotten."

"But they're very nice; they're lovely; and I've just been complimenting her. Now what has this woman done to you?"

It seemed impossible that a man of Blaise Jones' character could actually harbor crude superstitions, and yet there was no mistaking his earnestness when he said:

The Door of a Harness Closet Opened, and Out of the Blackness Peered Paloma's Father.

"I ain't sure whether she's to blame, or her husband, but misfortune has folded me to herself."

"How?"

"Well, I'm sick."

"You don't look it."

"I don't exactly feel it, either, but I am. I don't sleep good, my heart's actin' up, I've got rheumatism, my stomach feels like I'd swallowed something alive—"

"You're smoking too much," Alaire affirmed, with conviction.

But skepticism aroused Blaise's indignation. With elaborate sarcasm, he retorted: "I reckon that's why my best team of mules ran away and dragged me through a ten-acre patch of grass burrs, eh? It's a wonder I wasn't killed. I reckon I smoked 'em away."

that I give a tobacco heart to the best three-year-old bull—in my pasture! Well, I smoked him to death, all right. Probably it was nicotine poisoning that killed twenty acres of my cotton, too; and maybe if I'd cut out tobacco I'd have floated that bond issue on the irrigation ditch. But I was wedded to cigarettes, so my banks are closin' down on me. Sure! That's what a man gets for smokin'!"

"And do you attribute all these misfortunes to Paloma's dressmaker?"

The man nodded gloomily. "That ain't half! Everything goes wrong. I'm scared to pack a weapon for fear I'll injure myself. Why, I've carried a bowie knife in my bootleg ever since I was a babe in arms, you might say; but the other day I jabbed myself with it and nearly got blood-poisoned."

This fellow, Strange, with his fortune-telling and his charms and his conjures, has hocus-pocussed the whole neighborhood. He's gettin' rich off of the Mexicans. He knows more secrets than a parrot."

"He is nothing more than a circus fakir, Mr. Jones."

"Yes'm! Just the same, these greasers 'd vote him into the legislature if he asked them. Why, he knows who fetched back Ricardo Guzman's body! He told me so."

"Really?" Alaire looked up quickly, then the smile left her face. After a moment she said, "Perhaps he could tell me something I want to know?"

"No, don't you get him started," Blaise cautioned, hastily, "or he'll put a spell on you like he did on me."

"I want to know what Ed had to do with the Guzman affair."

Blaise shook his head slowly. "Well, he's mixed up somehow with Lewis. Dave thinks Tad was at the bottom of the killing, and he hoped to prove it on him; but our government won't do anything, and he's stumped for the time being. I don't know any more about Ed's dealings than you do, Miz Austin; all I know is that I got a serpent in my household and I can't get shreds of her. I've got a lapful of trouble of my own."

"This is too occult for me," she declared, rising. "But—I'm interested in what you say about Mr. Strange. If the Mexicans tell him so much, perhaps he can tell me something. I do hope you have no more misfortunes."

"You stay to supper," Blaise urged hospitably. "I'll be in as soon as that tarantula's gone."

But Alaire declined. After a brief chat with Paloma, she remounted Montrose and prepared for the homeward ride. At the gate, however, she met Dave Law on his new mare, and when Dave had learned the object of her visit to Jonesville he insisted upon accompanying her.

It was early dusk when they reached Las Palmas; it was nearly midnight when Dave threw his leg across his saddle and started home.

Alaire's parting words rang sweetly in his ears: "This has been the pleasantest day I can remember."

The words themselves meant little, but Dave had caught a wistful undertone in the speaker's voice, and fancied he had seen in her eyes a queer, half-frightened expression, as of one just awakened.

Jose Sanchez had beheld Dave Law at the Las Palmas table twice within a few days. He spent this evening laboriously composing a letter to his friend and patron, Gen. Luis Longorio.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES
AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally that Nobody Can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

I will be in Gettysburg, Tuesday, July 17th, at Penrose Myers to examine eyes and fit glasses.

KALUSZ TAKEN

Russians Win Town After Bloody Battle.

LEMBERG'S FALL IS NEAR

A Large Additional Number of Russian Prisoners Captured in Galicia—Drive Continues Unchecked.

Petrograd, July 12.—Russian troops have occupied Kalusz, formerly headquarters of the Austrian army taking many prisoners, an official statement announced.

"Kalusz was captured after a stubborn and sanguinary battle," the statement said.

(Kalusz is a city of about 8000 population, twenty-eight miles southeast of Stry. Wednesday the Russians had reached the Posiecz-Lesivka-Karmaczyn line south and west of Stanislaw. The central point of this line is Lesivka, four miles west of the river Bystritza. It is about seven miles east of Kalusz, the nearest large town west of Stanislaw and which is situated in a bend of the Stoka river.)

Reports show 42,300 prisoners have been taken since the beginning of the Russian offensive in Galicia, on July 1. The biggest haul, 18,300, was made around Rzeszow, on July 1 and 2. Guns taken total 164, not including machine guns.

According to information received at the ministry of war, the Russian troops are continuing their successful advance and have taken a large number of prisoners.

It is admitted that to the west of Bohorodczany, on the Grabovka-Rosolna-Krivitz front, the enemy, taking advantage of the extremely intricate terrain, is holding back the advance.

In the capture of Halicz, the Russian revolutionary army, so discredited during the last few months, has reached in a single move the objective fought for so stubbornly but without success by General Brusiloff's triumphant forces of last summer in a long and arduous campaign.

This feat means the definite piercing of the Austro-German on a broad front, and not merely a local penetration, which was accomplished by the first Russian victory west of Tarnopol.

The activity of the Russian armies has now spread from Tarnopol to the Carpathians and they are steadily pushing forward on a continuous front more than 100 miles long. General Brusiloff, apparently benefitting from last year's experience in his attempts on Halicz from the north, from which side last summer's campaign proved almost impregnable, planned the southern drive along the road to Dolina so brilliantly executed by General Korniloff. This appeared to be the line of least resistance, and Halicz was easily taken from the rear.

The strategic results of the occupation of Halicz are obvious. Lemberg is now open to attack from Halicz. It is also likely that the Austrian line which has long been based on the Galla Lipa river, will be forced to retire, and as the Russian movement develops in the direction of Lemberg, it is sure to have an effect on the situation in the Kovel-Vladimir Volinsk region.

Germans Repulsed on Meuse. Paris, July 12.—After a violent bombardment the Germans tried several surprise attacks during the night or both banks of the Meuse, but were repulsed, according to a statement issued by the war office.

1800 British Captured. London, July 12.—The total British casualties resulting from the German success near Nieuport, Belgium, on Tuesday, were about 1800, including prisoners. These figures were given by Major General G. B. Maurice, chief director of military operations, at the war office.

SIGNS WAR FUND BILL

Brumbaugh Approves Measure For Defense of Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 12.—Governor Brumbaugh signed the bill authorizing the state to borrow not exceeding $5,000,000 to repel invasions, suppress insurrections and defend the state during the war.

This measure, a Vane senate bill, originally was for $20,000,000, but was reduced to $5,000,000. Such an issue does not have to go before the people, as the constitution gives authority to sell bonds for defense.

The "war bonds" are to bear 4 per cent. Originally they were to bear 3 per cent. They will not be issued except in an emergency.

The governor also announced his approval of the senate bill which makes drastic restrictions on the sale of drugs, and places those addicted under the supervision of the state department of health, whose commissioner is to make rules and regulations.

The "blue sky" bill was approved by Governor Brumbaugh. It was drawn by Insurance Commissioner O'Neill and is designed to prevent issuance of stock to persons selling shares in insurance companies.

The Lohr house bill, providing regulations for the licensing of all dogs in the country districts, was approved by the governor. The measure establishes licenses of $2 and $4 for rural communities.

FEED ARMY FROM U. S.

Perahing's Force to Have Communications With Supply Base.

Paris, July 12.—Writing in the Herald, General Berthaut, one of the best informed military critics in France, said the American government will have its own line of communication between Washington and France. He said:

"The participation of the United States does not consist in placing at our disposal contingents of men. Neither does it consist in sending to us tactical units already formed in the battalions, regiments, brigades or larger units, to be used individually here and there in collaboration with French units of the same order."

"The United States should know directly the needs of its army. It is necessary that there exist at the disposition of the American government lines of communication always uninterrupted between its army in the field and its base of supplies."

GAS MASKS FOR U. S. MEN

Experts at Work on Efficient Protector Against Fumes.

Washington, July 12.—Army order disclose the fact that the government and civilian experts are hard at work on the production of an effective gas mask for American troops.

Major L. P. Williamson, of the medical corps, has been ordered to Pittsburgh, Baltimore and New Haven to inspect laboratory work being done there.

Every American destroyer or other naval vessel which sails for the war zone carries a full equipment of gas masks.

Gas shells have been used by the German naval gunners and it was deemed necessary to equip American boats against such devices when the first were despatched.

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by any druggist under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

Fogs Are Valuable.

It has been discovered that fogs, especially ocean fogs, are valuable. Fogs are the principal fertilizers of the great bean fields of California. The fields are dry-farmed. Rain means ruin. Yet moisture is a necessity. This is furnished in just the right degree by fogs.

Arizona Peopled Ages Ago.

There are ruins in Arizona that prove beyond a doubt that it was peopled generations before the pyramids of Egypt were erected. Of course, outside of these ruins we know nothing of these prehistoric tribes, but the evidence of their occupation are with us.

Tree Grows Around Boards.

In the interior of an old maple tree cut down in South Newfane, Vt., or Frank C. Kelsey's land, were found pieces of the ends of an old board fence with nails which fastened it to the tree when it was much smaller. The tree had grown outside the nails and ends of board six inches or more.

First Circular Saw.

According to British technical publications, the first circular saw was invented by one Murray, a wood turner at Mansfield, England. The first saw of this kind was about six inches in diameter and was used on a wood turning lathe operated by water power.

U BOAT PERIL IS GROWING WORSE

Submarines Now Able to Remain Motionless in One Place.

PROPELLERS ARE NOISELESS

Telescopic Periscopes Now In Use Can Be Shot Out of Water and Back Again in a Minute—New Listening Devices Enable Crew to Tell Type of Vessels Near Them.

Developments increasing the efficiency of German submarines since April 1. It was learned on high authority, have made the U boat menace still more menacing to the allies.

The four known developments since April 1 are:

Four small pumps, regulated by electrical devices so the hydrostat will indicate the depth of submergence, by which the submarine is enabled to remain motionless under the water. Formerly the submarine was obliged to come to the surface like a whale. It planned up, assumed a level position on the surface, and to submerge it planed down for the dive, the operation requiring two and a half minutes. It was obliged also to continue in motion always unless anchored to the bottom, being in this respect like an airplane, which has to keep going or fall to the earth. The submarine, before the new device was installed, would either sink or rise to the surface if it stopped.

Device Shields U Boats. With the pumps, if the tendency is to rise when the U boat is motionless, more water is pumped in; if the tendency is to sink, water is pumped out. Thus the submarine is now enabled to visit any spot in the ocean, submerge to the desired depth and lie perfectly still.

Before this device was installed the throb of the submarine's propellers was heard by submarine chasers. Now the submarine may elude the pursuer by standing still under water. Formerly the submarine used up the power in its storage batteries, and that meant fuel consumption in some form. Now by being able to remain still the boats consume less fuel and are enabled to stay at their posts for a considerably longer time than formerly.

German submarines are using telescopic periscopes. The U boat floats very near to the surface, then suddenly shoots up its periscope, in this manner being able to detect as quickly as being detected. The telescope in the same manner may be withdrawn instantly, and the submarine can change its position without leaving a wake. Heretofore the periscope went slashing through the water, leaving a great white wake.

No Gas Wake Left.

Now the German submarines are using the Diesel engine, it being supplied with oxygen and a mixture of strained gas, which takes the place of air. The exhaust is broken up by a series of widespread, fine meshed nets, so that the gas is washed free of smoke, and on coming to the surface it is in infinitesimal bubbles which do not make any wake.

Remarkable improvements have been made in the German submarine's telephones and listening devices, enabling them to hear and locate at a considerable distance the direction and the type of vessels from the frequency of their propeller turns. This listening radius is usually about five miles.

BOILED SHIRT DOOMED.

Starch Savers Also Urge Ban on Stiff Collars.

The impressive "boiled shirt" and the stiff collar are about to say their adieu for the period of the war, if one of the pet plans of the new food administration is carried to its logical conclusion.

This was brought out when Dr. R. L. W. Wilbur, temporary chief of the food conservation department of the administration, said some of the many ways in which the people of the United States would be asked to conserve food materials.

Dr. Wilbur called attention to the vast amount of starch that might be conserved for food purposes if the starch that annually is used to stiffen post prandial shirt fronts were diverted to the kitchen of the American housewife. He indicated that the next social season may witness soft shirts and collars with some soft rolling effect—possibly built on the lines of the sport collar—as the style de rigueur. The women also will be hit by the new ruling, for there will be no more daintily starched frilleries and flurries.

Two Crops in One Year.

W. W. Rike, a farmer of Danville, Ill., has an unusual method of raising potatoes, and it is being watched with a great deal of interest by his neighbors. Some time ago he planted the potatoes in individual boxes in a hot-house, and a few days ago he transplanted them to the garden. He now has potatoes two months ahead of any in the vicinity. Mr. Rike says if the plan proves a success he will plant another crop of potatoes on the same ground, the last crop to be stored for the winter.

Good Food For Troops.

The country's hotel men are to spend $50,000 for a force of cooks to teach cooks in American army camps.

Cheerfulness.

"Cheerfulness is a small virtue, it is true, but it sheds such a brightness around us in this life that neither the dark clouds nor the rain can dispossess its happy influence."—E. V. B. Alexander.

A THRILLING STORY OF CIRCUS LIFE
"The Jockey of Death"
It is a story of that most interesting and most fascinating themes—the circus. Thrill follows thrill in rapid succession just as they do in the "big top".

The two principal parts are portrayed by Mlle. Evelyn and M. Arturo, both of whom deserted the sawdust ring for motion pictures. Formerly they were members of one of the most famous circuses in the world, the one being a daring aerial artist, and the other a bareback rider.

PATRIA NO. 13 in two reels will be run in addition, featuring Mrs. Vernon Castle.

DID YOU REGISTER?

If you did, you are proud of it. And you will be a great deal prouder in the years to come. That little blue card will be one of your most valued possessions and for all you know, will be preserved for generations to show that you did your patriotic duty in the time of your country's need.

In this week's issue of the Adams County News—published Saturday—we will print the complete list of all those who registered in Adams County together with their number for the drawing. This paper will be almost as important as your card and, in addition, will contain not only your own name but that of every Adams County man who responded to the call for registry.

The issue will be limited. Order a copy now so that one may be reserved for you. Write, telephone, or call THE TIMES OFFICE.
